BRAND AUDIT

1. Brand Overview TIER 1

Score: ★☆☆☆☆ (50/100)

Indicator: ● At Risk

Assessment

The brand's main category (shopping mall) and location (Opry Mills) can be inferred but are not explicitly stated with a clear problem statement or specific audience segment. The site heavily promotes stores, deals, and general mall amenities but does not define a singular event or problem they solve concretely, making a specific category and user need unclear. This lowers clarity and specificity and poses a missed opportunity in positioning the mall distinctly.

2. Who You Are TIER 1

Score: ★☆☆☆☆ (48/100)

Indicator: ● At Risk

Assessment

No explicit mission, vision, values, or origin story are present in the HTML content. The site primarily focuses on practical information about the mall, stores, deals, and amenities rather than a coherent brand identity or unique promise. This indicates a generic brand presentation without demonstrated core values or a differentiating story, which risks weaker emotional connection with users.

Opportunities

- Define mission and vision
 - Articulate core brand values
 - Tell origin story

3. How You Look TIER 1

Score: ★☆☆☆☆ (55/100)

Indicator: ● At Risk

Assessment

Visual signals like logo and color palette are somewhat visible but the presentation is standard for shopping malls with recognizable logos of tenant brands. The color and style do not diverge materially from typical mall websites. There is extensive use of standard photographs and logos with no distinctive illustration or unique visual narrative, leading to minimal brand distinctiveness visually.

Opportunities

- Develop unique visual identity
 - Enhance photography style
 - Create custom illustrations

4. How You Sound TIER 1

Score: ★☆☆☆☆ (40/100)

Indicator: ● At Risk

Assessment

The voice is generic and functional, focused on navigation, promotions, and basic store information rather than a distinctive or emotionally engaging tone. There is no explicit tagline, mission statement, or unique value proposition articulated that separates the brand verbally from others. Messaging relies on standard commercial language and lacks a consistent, recognizable voice.

Opportunities

- Craft distinctive brand voice
 - Develop memorable taglines
 - Avoid generic promotional language

5. Who You Serve TIER 1

Score: ★★☆☆☆ (60/100)

Indicator: ● Needs Work

Assessment

The primary audience is the general shopping public visiting Opry Mills mall. This is inferred from the site's extensive list of stores, amenities, and promotional deals but the audience is broad and not specifically defined by demographics or segments. High-pain use cases and specific jobs-to-be-done are not explicitly detailed, resulting in a competitive but generic audience definition.

Opportunities

- Clarify primary audience segments
 - Define specific customer needs
 - Highlight audience pain points

6. Position & Market Fit TIER 2

Score: ★☆☆☆☆ (50/100)

Indicator: ● At Risk

Assessment

The positioning of Opry Mills is broadly accessible and mid-market, typical of large shopping malls and outlets. It lacks explicit claims or defensible points of difference beyond the variety of stores and deals. There is no unique market differentiation or clear competitive frame of reference expressed, resulting in an unclear and generic market positioning that risks blending into competitive noise.

Opportunities

- Develop clear differentiators
 - Articulate competitive advantages
 - Define target market clearly

Brand Health Summary

The brand presence of Opry Mills is generic and informational, lacking distinct identity elements that differentiate it in the shopping mall category. The site serves as a functional directory and promotional tool but misses opportunities for emotional connection, clear positioning, and specific audience engagement. This places the brand at risk of being perceived as a generic shopping location rather than a distinctive destination.

90-Day Brand Game Plan TIER 2

30 Day Plan

- Audit site content for mission clarity
- Define explicit brand mission
- Identify target audience segments
- Assess visual and voice consistency
- Gather competitor examples for reference

60 Day Plan

- Develop mission and vision statements
- Create distinct brand voice guidelines
- Design unique visual identity elements
- Map audience pain points and needs
- Outline positioning and differentiation

90 Day Plan

- Implement new brand messaging across site
- Launch refreshed visual identity
- Communicate targeted audience benefits
- Monitor user feedback and engagement
- Adjust strategy based on performance

WEBSITE AUDIT

1. Website Overview TIER 1

Score: ★★☆☆☆ (70/100)

Indicator: ● Competitive

Assessment

The Opry Mills website clearly presents that it is a shopping center with a broad range of stores and amenities, visible above-the-fold with accessible navigation. The value proposition is evident with emphasis on shopping experiences, deals, and family activities, though it is somewhat generic and could improve with more specific customer-centered benefits. Enhancing concrete benefits and precise value could help differentiate the brand and improve immediate visitor impact, which is important for attracting shoppers and tenants in a competitive market.

Key Takeaway

Clear, functional value proposition with room for greater specificity.

2. Brand Expression TIER 1

Score: ★★☆☆☆ (68/100)

Indicator: ● Needs Work

Assessment

The website uses a consistent visual system with Simon branding, a defined color palette, and clean typography that supports its premium retail positioning. Imagery includes many high-quality brand logos and promotional visuals but reliance on some stock-style imagery and a template structure limits uniqueness. To strengthen brand expression, bespoke visuals and more distinct styling are recommended, improving brand perception for shoppers and partners alike.

What's Working

- Consistent Simon branding
- Clear typography hierarchy
- High-quality brand logos

What Needs Attention

- Template-driven design
 - Generic imagery usage
 - Limited unique visual elements

3. Messaging & Clarity TIER 2

Score: ★☆☆☆☆ (58/100)

Indicator: ● At Risk

Assessment

Messaging is clear enough to understand the site's function as a mall listing and shopping destination, with many store and deal highlights. However, language is mostly generic and lacks specific proof points or differentiated benefits. Addressing this by adding more concrete outcomes or unique service features can better engage prospective visitors and increase conversion.

What's Working

- Clear site purpose indicated
- Accessible store and deal info

What Needs Attention

- Generic messaging
 - Lacks specific benefits or proof
 - No clear differentiation

4. UX & Navigation TIER 1

Score: ★★★☆☆ (72/100)

Indicator: ● Competitive

Assessment

Navigation is well-structured with clear labels and a reasonable number of menu items supporting easy access to stores, deals, and services. Content organization facilitates scanning, and CTAs like 'Sign Up Now' and search are accessible. Improving mobile thumb-target sizes and reinforcing CTA prominence could further reduce friction. This good UX supports return visits and positive shopper experience.

What's Working

- Clear menu labels
- Logical navigation structure
- Visible primary CTAs

What Needs Attention

- Improve mobile thumb targets
 - CTAs could be more prominent

5. Accessibility TIER 1

Score: ★★☆☆☆ (65/100)

Indicator: ● Needs Work

Assessment

The site generally meets baseline accessibility standards with adequate text contrast, semantic HTML heading usage, and alt text on images seen in logos and product pictures. However, some images lack detailed alt attributes and font sizes in certain places could be verified for legibility. Strengthening these areas is critical for inclusivity and legal compliance, reducing risk and expanding potential customer access.

What's Working

- Adequate text contrast
- Use of alt text on images
- Semantic HTML structure

What Needs Attention

- Some missing descriptive alt text
 - Verify font sizes for legibility

6. CTAs, Trust & Conversion TIER 1

Score: ★★☆☆☆ (62/100)

Indicator: ● Needs Work

Assessment

CTAs like 'Sign Up' and 'Shop Online' are clear and repeated, but many CTAs use generic language (e.g., 'Learn More') which can reduce conversion impact. Trust signals include store logos and some promotional endorsements, but there is little direct customer testimonials or case studies. Enhancing CTA specificity and adding authentic trust markers would improve engagement and customer confidence, directly affecting conversion rates.

What's Working

- Visible CTAs above fold
- Repetition of key CTAs
- Store logos as trust signals

What Needs Attention

- Generic CTA text
 - Lack of testimonials or case studies
 - Improve trust marker variety

7. Social Consistency TIER 1

Score: ★★☆☆☆ (70/100)

Indicator: ● Competitive

Assessment

Social links to Facebook, Instagram, TikTok, and Simon SAID are visible and consistent with website branding visually and message-wise. The channels appear active with recent posts and align with the website's retail marketing tone. This consistency supports an integrated brand presence essential for customer engagement and cross-channel marketing effectiveness.

What's Working

- Consistent branding across socials
- Active recent social posts
- Aligned messaging tone

What Needs Attention

- Bio details could be clearer on socials

8. Risk & Confidence Framing TIER 1

Score: ★★☆☆☆ (60/100)

Indicator: ● Needs Work

Assessment

The website displays key institutional credibility signals such as physical mall location, multiple contact phone numbers, Simon corporate links, and privacy policies. SSL and secure browsing are implied. However, leadership team, industry certifications, or detailed security badges aren't prominently visible. More visible legitimacy and security markers would increase trust among visitors, partners, and investors, reducing perceived risk for business transactions.

What's Working

- Physical address and phones visible
- Links to privacy policy and terms
- Corporate parent brand displayed

What Needs Attention

- No visible leadership info
 - No detailed security certifications
 - Limited trust badges

What's Working Overall

- Clear brand purpose and value
- Consistent visual identity
- Good navigation and social presence

What Needs Attention Overall

- Messaging specificity and proof
- Unique brand visual assets
- Enhanced trust and security signals

Overall Social Media Score

Score:  (65/100)

Indicator:  Needs Work

Platforms analyzed: Instagram, Facebook, TikTok

Cross-Platform Scores

Brand Consistency: 65/100

Profile images use consistent logos; however, bios lack clear mission and vary in detail. Visual style and tone are generic mall promotions without distinctive voice or colors, limiting brand cohesion.

Strategic Platform Selection: 68/100

Presence on Instagram, Facebook, TikTok aligns with target shopper demographics, but TikTok execution is weak and posting irregular. Platform mix matches retail shopping objectives but execution varies.

Cross-Platform Synergy: 63/100

Content is mostly promotional and copy-pasted. Little adaptation per platform or strategic cross-promotion. No unified campaign evident, platforms appear siloed and uncoordinated.

Overall Social Media Maturity: 65/100

Social strategy appears basic with modest activity and no strong community building or differentiated brand voice. Resource allocation seems uneven; Instagram underutilized and TikTok irregular.

Overall Assessment

Key Strengths

- Consistent use of Simon branding and logos across platforms
- Active presence on key social platforms suited to target audiences
- Good navigation and clear CTAs on website supporting user experience

Critical Gaps

- Lack of distinctive brand voice and messaging across socials
- Inconsistent posting frequency especially on Instagram and TikTok
- No evidence of cross-platform campaign coordination or promotion

Missing Opportunities

- Develop unique, engaging content tailored to each platform to boost engagement
- Implement regular posting schedules with community interaction focus
- Leverage TikTok trends and interactive features to grow younger audience

Platform Priority

- #1 Facebook — Strongest platform with better completeness, higher average score and more consistent content and engagement relative to others.
- #2 TikTok — Moderate potential due to friendly tone and video content but requires improvement in posting frequency and visual consistency.
- #3 Instagram — Weakest platform with lowest engagement, poor posting frequency, and lack of unique content or clear CTA.

Executive Summary

Presence Health

Opry Mills maintains a functional but basic digital presence, primarily focused on promotional content and store deals. While Facebook performs relatively well, Instagram and TikTok show inconsistent posting and low engagement. The brand risks underperforming without enhanced content and community focus.

Consistency

Brand visuals and messaging across platforms lack distinctiveness and strong voice, appearing generic and promotional. Bios do not clearly state mission or audience, impeding cohesive brand narrative. Platforms operate with minimal cross-channel synergy.

Resource Allocation

Investment should prioritize Facebook for its stronger current performance, followed by TikTok to tap younger audiences via improved content and engagement. Instagram requires rebuilding with clearer strategy and more dynamic content, as current efforts are under-resourced and ineffective.

90-Day Action Plan

Revamp Instagram Profile and Content Strategy

- Rewrite Instagram bio with clear mission, defined audience, and strong CTA.
- Develop 4-7 weekly Instagram posts using varied formats including Stories and Reels.
- Implement a visual theme with consistent colors and imagery to strengthen brand recognition.

Elevate TikTok Engagement and Posting Consistency

- Enhance TikTok bio with compelling CTA under 80 characters.
- Publish at least 3 TikTok videos weekly incorporating trending audio and strong hooks.
- Engage with comments actively and encourage duets or stitches to build community.

Implement Cross-Platform Content Planning and Coordination

- Create a unified content calendar aligning themes and promotions across Instagram, Facebook, and TikTok.
 - Design platform-native content adjusted for each channel's best practices and audience.
 - Cross-promote campaigns linking platforms and encouraging followers to engage on multiple channels.

INSTAGRAM

Instagram

Score: ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ (60/100)

Indicator: ● Needs Work

Profile Completeness: 63/100

Bio lacks clear mission, specific audience definition, and strong CTA. Profile picture is appropriate but generic. Link in bio directs to broader shopping site, not specific engagement or offers. Highlights exist but are minimal and lack curation.

Content Quality: 65/100

Content is inconsistent with mostly promotional posts highlighting mall deals and store announcements. Limited use of varied formats like Reels or Stories. Imagery quality is standard, no compelling storytelling or engaging hooks.

Brand Alignment: 62/100

Messaging and voice are generic, focused on promotions without distinctive tone. Visuals follow standard retail mall style, lacking unique or cohesive aesthetic or brand personality.

Audience Engagement: 58/100

Engagement is low with minimal meaningful comments or interactions. Community is not actively engaged. No evidence of responsiveness to audience comments.

Posting Frequency: 50/100

Posting frequency is low and irregular. Latest posts are older than 14 days, which limits audience connection and platform effectiveness.

Visual Consistency: 60/100

Grid shows inconsistent aesthetics with mixed images and promotional content. No clear color theme or visual flow established, reducing brand recognition.

Strengths

- Profile has basic presence and connects to main shopping site.
- Social profile includes highlights and relevant store info.
- Content shows basic mall announcements and promotional updates.

Weaknesses

- Bio is generic and lacks strong CTA or unique value proposition.
- Content is mostly promotional with limited variety (few Reels or Stories).
- Engagement is low with little community interaction or response.
- Posting is infrequent, limiting reach and connection.
- Visuals lack cohesive style and consistent branding.

Recommendations

- Revamp bio to include clear mission, defined audience, and compelling CTA.
- Increase content variety with engaging Reels, Stories, and community-focused posts.
- Boost engagement by encouraging comments and responding promptly.
- Establish consistent posting schedule of 4-7 times per week.
- Develop cohesive visual theme for grid with consistent color palette and style.

FACEBOOK

Facebook

Score: ★★☆☆☆ (70/100)

Indicator: ● Competitive

Profile Completeness: 75/100

Complete About section, contact info, numerous services listed, quality cover and profile images, and an effective CTA button present.

Content Quality: 72/100

Content shows good relevance with regular promotions, high-quality visuals, and decent content variety but mostly sales-focused.

Brand Alignment: 70/100

Visuals and messaging are consistent but generic, fitting a large mall without unique distinctiveness or a strong voice.

Audience Engagement: 65/100

Engagements are present but low, with some comment responses and active reviews, but could be more dynamic.

Posting Frequency: 68/100

Posts are frequent but irregular, with some gaps longer than ideal between promotions and community posts.

Visual Consistency: 70/100

Good quality visuals with consistent branding, though lacking unique design elements to elevate the brand distinctiveness.

Strengths

- Comprehensive About section and services info
- Active promotions with quality visuals
- Consistent visual identity and brand messaging
- Presence of CTA button encouraging user action
- Good store directory and engagement options

Weaknesses

- Engagement rate low, limiting community growth
- Content mostly promotional, lacks varied community-building posts
- Posting schedule irregular, affecting audience retention
- Lacks a unique brand voice and distinct messaging
- Limited unique visual elements reducing brand memorability

Recommendations

- Increase engagement by encouraging more community interaction and timely responses
- Diversify content with more value-driven and community-oriented posts
- Implement a regular posting schedule to improve audience retention
- Develop a distinctive brand voice to better connect emotionally with the audience
- Create unique visual content to enhance brand memorability and differentiation

TikTok

Score: ★★☆☆☆ (64/100)

Indicator: ● Needs Work

Profile Completeness: 65/100

Profile has a clear description but lacks a strong CTA; profile picture is appropriate, link in bio is present but not fully leveraged for conversion; category selection limited

Content Quality: 67/100

Videos show decent production quality with some trend participation; however, hooks could be stronger and more consistent use of trending audio is needed for viral potential

Brand Alignment: 68/100

Visual branding and messaging somewhat consistent aligning with outlet shopping destination; voice maintains a friendly tone but lacks stronger unique brand personality

Audience Engagement: 62/100

Engagement is moderate but with limited direct interaction seen in comments; few duets or stitches observed, indicating low community interaction

Posting Frequency: 60/100

Posting frequency is inconsistent with some gaps over 14 days; more regular and strategic posting recommended

Visual Consistency: 64/100

Visual style and themes vary somewhat across videos; brand colors and aesthetic not strongly consistent or recognizable

Strengths

- Clear brand focus as Nashville's largest outlet shopping destination
- Presence of link in bio to direct traffic
- Consistent friendly tone in messaging

Weaknesses

- Bio lacks a compelling call to action
- Video hooks are weak or slow to engage viewers
- Inconsistent posting frequency with gaps over two weeks
- Low comment engagement and minimal community interactions
- Visual style lacks strong brand color usage or consistency

Recommendations

- Enhance bio with a clear and compelling CTA within 80 characters
- Use stronger video hooks in first 3 seconds to capture attention
- Increase posting frequency to at least 3 times per week regularly
- Engage actively with comments and encourage duets or stitches
- Develop a cohesive visual branding style including consistent color palette
